The names of the four young women were mentioned by Thaw, but were not made public. Thaw also becueathed sums of $2,500 each to the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst, Anthony Comstock and a lawyer named in his codicil, to be used in discovering further alleged misdeeds by Stanford White, and securing redress for the women.

It was also said to-night that Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw might go on the stand to-morrow afternoon to complete her story.

Nessit I have higher to complete her story.

The trial to-day entered its fifth week. The opening of court found Attorney Delmas again in his accustomed place at the head of Thaw's counsel table. During the day there was no surface indication of the storm which it is said raged among counsel for the defense during the latter part of last week, after the trial had been adjourned, because of the death of Juror Bolton's wife. Mr. Bolton was early at the Criminal Court building to-day, and said he felt perfectly able to go on with the trial.

It was decided that the jurors should not again be confined until they finally retire to make up their verdict.

Thaw Charged a Conspiracy.

Dr. Evans, 'who has been by far the most important witness for the defense among the medical experts, detailed at great length his conversations with Thaw in the 'Tombs. He told of how Thaw declared that his lawyers and physicians were in a conspiracy with the district attorney to 'railroad' him off to an asylum and prevent his case from coming to trial. He declared that "they wanted to close this matter up." Thaw told the physician that in his attempts to bring Stanford White to justice he had complained to District Attorney Jerome, and that, the latter had tol's him to let the matter drop; that there was nothing to it. He also complained to Anthony Comstock and to a detective agency. Thaw Charged a Conspiracy.

Late in the afternoon District Attorney Late in the afternoon District Attorney Jerome cross-examined Dr. Evans briefly on the one point of his opinion that Thaw was of unsound mind at the time of executing his will. The prosecutor and witness flashed fire at the first contact, and there was every indication that when Mr. Jerome undertook Dr. Evans's cross-examination in general the proceedings would be as lively and interesting as any ever heard in a local court-room. Dr. Evans met the preliminary attacks boldly, and seemed as ready with his wits as and seemed as ready with his wits as the district attorney.
